WORLD NATURE CONSERVATION DAY

World nature conservation day was celebrated on 28 July 2025 in the college by Environmental Studies students to raise awareness about the importance of protecting and conserving our natural resources. The day emphasizes the need for a sustainable balance between people and nature for future generations. The speech was given by the students of environmental studies to mark the significant moment, inspire and celebrate the World Nature Conservation day. Pranathi , the student of I BSc Physical sciences department spoke about on the occasion and highlighted that every individual has a role in conserving nature. She explained the different way of conserving nature like- reducing waste, saving water, planting tree and using eco-friendly products.

Chandana of I BSc spoke about the conservation methods to protect and manage natural resources and biodiversity. She motivated the audience to focus on the protecting species within their natural habitats and, conserve species outside their natural environments. She also explained the role of the youth in engaging local communities in conservation efforts to ensure long-term sustainability. The faculty members congratulated the speakers for their active participation.
